

BC Notaries in Focus

Notary Kate Greening has been sponsoring a minor hockey team for nine years. Called the Greening Notary Devils, this year's team was at the top of their league, comprised of boys ages 6, 7, and 8.

At their Jamboree in March in Port Hardy, the team was awarded the "Most Sportsmanlike Team" trophy. For the boys, that was like winning the Stanley Cup! They all threw their sticks and gloves down on the ice and went into a big, noisy huddle. A player borrowed the trophy for Show & Tell. It will be returned shortly to proudly grace Kate's Courtenay office.

Notary Katayoon Roohani recently hosted an outdoor community event near her North Vancouver office, to celebrate the Persian New Year and help bring Canadian and Iranian cultures closer together. The annual Norooz festival coincides with March 21, the first day of Spring. Representing the brighter side of 2500 years of Persian culture and its colourful tradition, Norooz is celebrated by all people of Persian descent, regardless of their politics or religion. The Mayors of the North Shore municipalities were invited.

Fiji-born Vancouver Notary Devika Mehta and husband Sanjay are delighted to announce the arrival of daughter Shyree, February 20, 2003, a wee sister for Y2K baby Shivani. A 1994 UBC Urban Land Economics graduate, Sanjay is currently studying to become a Notary in the 2003–2004 year. All family members are happy and well.

Globe-Travelling Notaries

Courtenay's Margot Rutherford recently vacationed in England and Ireland. She and daughter Abby, an exchange student on the Emerald Isle, enjoyed spending St. Patrick's Day together. (St. Pat's is celebrated as a statutory holiday in Ireland.) Pauline Jang has been travelling in China and Shanghai; Leona Bailey has just returned from a holiday in Cuba. Marny Morin leaves for Mexico in mid-April.
