

When The Scrivener arrives at Douglas College Foundation, it can take days to reach me. That's because everyone in the office wants "a quick look."

Some like the history section, others want the recipe, but I appreciate the information on topics that apply to nonprofits—everything from Wills and estates to financial planning and technology.

Congratulations on producing a professional and eminently readable magazine that advances the cause of Notaries Public, while providing education and information to lay people.

Hazel Postma
Douglas College
Associate VP External Relations
Voice: 604 777-6173
Fax: 604 777-6269

As a retired Notary, I was interested to read in the Spring issue of The Scrivener what Earl Stewart has been doing lately.

When I was practising, he covered my practice several times. We also worked together on a practice in North Vancouver.

My husband and I have moved to Summerland and enjoy quite a different life than during my working years.

We enjoy the Summers here—although it is certainly lacking so far this year—and spend winters in Arizona. It was nice to read about Earl and the others I recall well from my business years.

Lloyd and Sharon

Sharon Manthey (Unrau)

Seniors Services Society is a nonprofit registered charitable organization serving seniors in New Westminster with individualized support services such as Meals on Wheels, Seniors Link Up, Grocery Shopping, and so forth.

In the Lower Mainland, we serve seniors through our temporary housing and information and referral programs. We use your magazine with clients and distribute the magazines—depending on the audience, topic, and/or location—at workshops and presentations we attend throughout the Lower Mainland.

Over a 12-month period, we attend or present at about 70 events. Our information and referral and outreach staff regularly read your magazine to keep current on Powers of Attorney, estate planning, and such because, for many seniors or their children, we are the key or first contact they call as they try to navigate the resources for seniors.

Congratulations on a good magazine that represents the long list of services a BC Notary can provide!

Melody M. Hainsworth, PhD
Community Education Services Manager
Seniors Services Society

Voice: 604 520-6621
Fax: 604 520-1798

melodyh@seniorsservicesociety.ca

View the most inclusive listing of seniors' housing for BC:
www.seniorsservicesociety.ca

I am enjoying The Scrivener. The BC Historical Federation held their annual AGM and Conference in New Westminster in May. One of our two all-day workshops was on Land Titles. Godfrey Archbold and three of his staff participated.

To celebrate British Columbia's 150th birthday, the British Columbia Historical Federation has published a 24-page booklet with 117 postcards and images from the 1880s through 1930. Windows to Our Past – A Pictorial History of British Columbia has many never-before-seen historic pictures from private collections, small museums, and member societies.

A lovely addition to any library, this is an interesting glimpse into British Columbia's colourful history and an excellent resource for researchers.

$5.50 to any address in Canada
$6.50 to USA
$8.50 to other countries

Readers might like to have a copy for their waiting room and donate a copy to their local or high school library and local seniors' homes. Seniors would love to reminisce about some of the events.

If you wish to include a note to the recipient, include it with your order. We will enclose it with Windows to Our Past when we mail it for you.

Ron Hyde
newsletter@bchistory.ca

BC Historical Federation
PO Box 63006
Richmond, BC V7E 6K4