A BC Notary Public

Character

Members of The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia are professionals and thoroughly trained in their field. All have passed a series of stringent statutory examinations and declared qualified and trustworthy for their approval by the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

Before candidates may train for a career as a BC Notary Public, they must undergo a comprehensive screening of their professional, financial, and educational backgrounds. The screening also reviews candidates' law-related training and, most importantly, their character and reputation.

Community Service

Candidates must have proficiency and integrity. They are usually leaders with a commitment to community service.

Commissioned to provide certain legal services, notaries are very well trained and must maintain the highest professional and ethical standards.

Competence

Every notarial candidate must establish competence to work in this field. Business acumen and good judgment come only with experience. Therefore, notarial candidates must be mature adults.

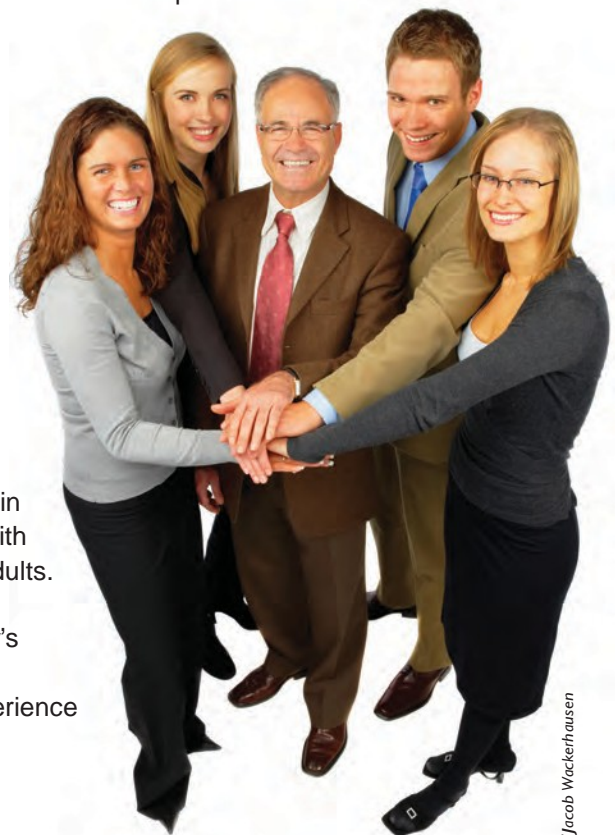

In addition to a university degree and Simon Fraser University's MAALS degree, candidates must possess sound business experience or be prepared to gain the required business experience following completion of the program.

Standard of Practice

Notaries in British Columbia have the authority to practice in some areas of law that in most other provinces are limited to lawyers. Members of The Society carry an obligation to provide services that are at least equal in quality to those provided by lawyers. Notaries are held by the Courts as having the legal obligation to provide the same "duty of care" to clients as is expected of lawyers.

Members of The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia are commissioned after the Supreme Court of BC has determined their fitness and they have passed a rigorous set of statutory examinations, conducted by a Board of Examiners named by BC's Minister of Justice.

The examinations are integrated into the two phases of our education program.

What Can A BC Notary Do?

The Tradition of Trust enjoyed by Notaries Public began in the early days of recorded history when Notaries were the principal agents for almost all commercial and judicial records.

Modern-day Notaries do not get involved in litigation or argue cases before a judge. Their activities are restricted to non-contentious matters—those where the parties involved are in agreement.

Notaries are trustees who have earned the public's confidence through their performance in various specified areas of law. As a Notary student, you will be trained to provide the following services:

- Affidavits for all documents required at a Public Registry within British Columbia
- Authorization of minor child travel
- Business Purchase/Sale
- Certified True Copies of Documents
- Commercial Leases & Assignment of Leases
- Contracts and Agreements
- Easements and Rights of Way
- Estate Planning
- Execution/Authentications of International Documents
- Healthcare Declarations
- *Some Notaries are qualified Immigration Consultants
- Insurance Loss Declarations
- Letters of Invitation for Foreign Travel
- Manufactured Home Transfers
- Marine Bills of Sales & Mortgage
- Marine Protestations
- *Marriage Licenses
- *Mediation
- Mortgage Refinancing
- Notarization/Attestations of Signatures
- Passport Application Documentation
- Personal Property Security Agreements
- Powers of Attorney
- Proof of Identity for Travel Purposes
- Purchase and Sale of Real Estate
- Real Estate Disclosure Statements
- Representation Agreements
- Residential & Commercial Real Estate Transfers
- Restrictive Covenants & Builder's Liens
- Statutory Declarations
- Subdivisions & Statutory Building Schemes
- Wills Preparation
- Will Searchers
- Zoning Applications

only some Notaries offer these services

Screening Requirements for Applicants

- Applicants must have a university degree that is acceptable to The Society and Simon Fraser University.
- Prior to being “Approved-in-Principle,” applicants are thoroughly screened and tested. This includes scrutiny of their education background and a full financial character report from an investigation agency.
- The Society corresponds with individuals who are prepared to act as character witnesses for the applicants.
- Each applicant is required to submit a Criminal Record Check, A financial records and background check, a bankruptcy check and a Court Records check.

Applicants are personally interviewed and given the opportunity to offer further information and explanations for items discovered during the screening process.

Each application is then reviewed by The Society’s Membership and Credentials Committee, which meets prior to the start of the education program each year. Only files complete at the time of that meeting are considered.

It is not possible to guarantee when your file will be reviewed. The most common delay occurs in the receipt of letters of reference from character witnesses. We suggest you stress to your character witnesses the importance of a prompt reply to the letter from The Society.

The initial screening process could take up to a year. We highly recommend you contact The Society regularly by mail or email to determine the status of your file.

If your application meets the requirements, a background investigation outlined above will follow. In due course, you will be contacted for a personal interview.

If your application is approved, your name and a few details about your background (to assist in identifying you) will be circulated to all members of The Society for their comments. Unless well-founded objections are received, you will be notified you have been “Approved-in-Principle.” You are then required to apply for the education program at Simon Fraser University.

Before submitting your application to SFU, a deposit is payable to the Society to ensure your place in the cohort for the duration of your studies. Practical training and administration costs will be offset against the deposit throughout the program. Details about the deposit and how it is applied are set out in the Student Handbook.

The Education Program

The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia is committed to ensuring the educational requirements for membership in The Society are of the highest standard.

After applicants satisfy the initial screening process and are “Approved-in-Principle,” they are required to undertake the Master of Arts in Applied Legal Studies (MAALS)* degree at SFU.

Phase 1: NOTARY PREPARATION PROGRAM (NPP)

SFU Master of Arts in Applied Legal Studies (MAALS)*

While we work with SFU to suggest content, the MA(ALS) program is developed and delivered by Simon Fraser University. You fall entirely under their jurisdiction for course content and materials, scheduling, marking, grading, performance, books, and so on while you are enrolled there. If you have questions about any aspect of the MA(ALS) degree program, please direct them to your instructors or administrators at SFU.

Phase 1 of the Notary Preparation Program is scheduled to begin each September. This 18-month phase of the program is delivered by a combination of distance education, online, and in-class learning, with weekly assignments requiring approximately 10 to 15 hours of work each week per course.

Courses will cover the following topics.

- Canadian Law and the Canadian Legal System
- Legal Research and Writing
- Legal Philosophy
- Contracts
- Real Property
- Personal Planning
- Notarial Legal Planning
- Other Selected Topics

The form and content of the courses are subject to change by SFU.

The courses are administered and delivered by SFU as follows.

Fall Term

September to mid-December: a 2-week face-to-face introductory intercession, delivered at an SFU Lower Mainland campus, with the balance of the term by distance education and online learning.

Spring Term

January to April: Distance education and online learning.

Summer Intercession

3 weeks in May: Delivered face-to-face at an SFU Lower Mainland campus.

Fall Term

September to mid-December: Distance education and online classroom learning, with a one-week face-to-face

Examination: Final exams usually in Mid-December.

Detailed course outlines will be available on SFU’s website www.sfu.ca

Phase 2: BC Notary Practical Training Course (BCNPT)

Through The Society of Notaries Public of BC

The Society delivers 6 weeks of practical Notary training as part of the student's successful completion of the MAALS degree. This training consists of lectures, in-office Notary mentoring, written and oral assignments, and research on the practical aspects of the following topics.

- Real estate conveyancing
- Trust accounting
- Wills drafting
- Notarization of documents

And more!

There are certain prerequisites students must achieve to take part in the practical training. These prerequisites are set out in our Student Handbook, a copy of which students will receive upon entry into the program.

Phase 3: Mentoring Requirement

You will be required to work with an approved BC Notary Public for 105 hours (3 weeks) at your convenience, once you have successfully completed the first three semesters of the SFU program and the first part of the Practical Training course.

Phase 4: Statutory Admissions Examinations

In addition to the evaluations and examinations that you are required to pass for the SFU and BCNPT programs, you must complete and pass the statutory admission examinations. Exams are scheduled once per year, usually in March or April.

Qualifications for Membership in The Society

Applications for membership in The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia are regulated by the membership, admission, and credentials rules of The Society. To fully understand the process and avoid unnecessary delay, ALL APPLICANTS ARE ADVISED to obtain and thoroughly review a copy of the Notaries Act, R.S.B.C. 1996 (as amended).

View the Act on our Website: www.notaries.bc.ca.

Quick Facts about Notaries Public in BC

- Notaries' Tradition of Trust goes back over 2000 years—to the dawn of recorded history. Notaries laid down the Codex Hammurabi, the oldest evidence of documented law. Notaries were also employed by the Catholic Church to be the guiding light of civilization through the Dark Ages. Throughout centuries of upheaval, the Notary's reputation for trustworthiness ensured that documents remained reliable.
- BC Notaries are governed by the Notaries Act of British Columbia and The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia. The position of Notary, as a member of one of the branches of BC's legal profession, is sanctioned and safeguarded by law. This makes BC Notaries unique in North America in providing services for non-contentious legal issues to the public.
- The professional work of a BC Notary is covered by an insurance plan that protects the public.
- BC's Notaries reflect the many ethnic and linguistic backgrounds of the province's population.
- The average age of a BC Notary is 53 and 56 percent of the province's Notaries are women.
- Notaries in British Columbia put a high priority on service to their local communities. Most are involved in fundraising, social service, business associations, and service clubs such as Rotary, Chamber of Commerce, Kinsmen, and Lions. Over 41 percent of BC's Notaries are active in youth sports and recreation.
- The Society of Notaries Public of British Columbia receives over 1600 enquiries for membership from the public annually! On average, 30 applicants are selected each year.
